

- (4) Class Presidents will be responsible for ensuring the cleanliness of their class cages. They must ensure the cages are organized and that clear walkways are provided in case of a fire or emergency.
 - f. Each Company Staff (CC/XO) will advise the RCDO when the inspection is complete in their company. The RCDO will pipe “stand down” after the last inspecting officer reports their inspection completed, or at the scheduled termination time, whichever occurs first.
 - g. After a room has been inspected, cadets may study, relax, etc. However, no cadets may leave their rooms until “stand down” is piped. All cadets must remain in the Uniform of the Day until “stand down” is piped. Cadets may not use electronics during this time.
2. Seabag Inspections.
- a. Seabag inspections are held in order to ensure that each cadet possesses the minimum amount of uniform articles needed to comply with the Minimum Seabag Requirement List, as annotated on the Golf Company Website. Any questions concerning this list should be directed to the Logistics Department Head in Golf Company.
 - b. Seabag inspections will be conducted as deemed necessary by the Regimental Commander during Wednesday morning Personnel Inspections.
 - c. It is the responsibility of the 1/c cadets to make sure their subordinates, as well as themselves, meet the minimum uniform requirements. Cadets who do not meet the minimum uniform requirements must purchase the uniform items within a week of inspection, and will be subject to administrative action as their company Executive Officer sees fit.

H. Cadet Uniforms.

1. General. Most cadet uniforms are the same or similar to Coast Guard officer uniforms. The Superintendent has delegated to the Commandant of Cadets the authority to prescribe the cadet uniform, including allowing minor uniform variations and cadet specific uniform items. The Regimental Commander must ensure that cadets meet or exceed standards for uniforms, liberty attire, and appearance at all times. Further guidance may be found in the Uniform Regulations, COMDTINST M1020.6 (series).
2. Appearances of Uniforms.
 - a. Cleanliness. Uniforms must be worn in a military manner at all times. They must be kept clean, pressed, and in good repair. All devices and insignia must be bright and free from corrosion or tarnish.
 - b. Headgear. Hats and caps must be worn squarely on the head, bottom edge horizontal. They must be kept clean and in good repair. Hair must not be visible below the front brim or visor. Female cadets must pin their hair up under the cap.
