This Is Your Military

#KnowYourMil

What Is It?

The “This is Your Military” outreach initiative will:

- Educate and accurately inform the American public on the military's relevance, innovativeness and how it is a force for good.
- Introduce the American public to the less than 1% who currently serve in the U.S. military.
- Fix common misperceptions about the military.

Audiences

Actively engage audiences not traditionally connected to the military

- Provide content of interest to a non-military audience
- Tell the military story in a non-military, non-government language

External

- American public
- Media
- Business, government, academic and nonprofit leaders and other societal influencers

Internal

- DoD, Military Service, National Guard and Combatant Command leadership
- Service members and civilian personnel

Why?

- Civilian-military divide is expanding
- Sustainability and viability of the all-volunteer force
- National security

Trends

- Majority of young adults think that someone getting out of the military will have:
  - psychological or emotional problems,
  - physical injury, or
  - difficulty readjusting to everyday life.
- Many believe life in the military to be lonely, unpredictable and not compatible with having a family.
- Only 15% of young adults have a parent who has served – a drop from 40% in 1995.

What Are We Doing?

- Ensuring Americans have more opportunities get to know the men and women who serve – who they are, what they do, and why they do it
- Emphasizing that the U.S. military is relevant to every American and that we are all connected
- Educating the public about the military by exposing them to the real lives of U.S. Service members
- Showing a balanced view of military life

How?

- Expand social media engagement
- Maximize traditional public affairs outreach efforts
  - Non-media influencers
  - Press operations
- Leverage support across DoD/ Military Services
- Encourage collaboration with external stakeholders
